King Estate Winery in Autumn
by Rachel Coe

Territorial Wine Trail – Oregon Wine Country comes alive in the fall. The grape leaves turn vibrant oranges and yellows. More than a dozen award-winning wineries grace Territorial Highway, a scenic and verdant 40-mile stretch from just north of Eugene to Cottage Grove. Start by sipping from tasting room to tasting room, take a Pinot Clinic at Pfeiffer Vineyards and have a picnic overlooking the foothills of the Coast Range at Sweet Cheeks Winery. Finish the day at King Estate, Oregon's largest winery. Known for its pinot gris and farm-to-table restaurant, King Estate overlooks more than one thousand acres of vineyards, orchards and gardens. Wheelchair accessible walking tours of the wine production facilities are offered.

Dorena Bridge
by Traci Williamson

Cottage Grove Covered Bridges – Spend the day escaping on a relaxing self-guided tour of historic covered bridges. Walk, drive or pedal through six of them in Cottage Grove. Known as the “Covered Bridge Capital of the West,” Cottage Grove’s covered bridge tour is accessible, well marked and slow-paced. The half-day drive begins in downtown Cottage Grove at the Centennial Bridge and follows the Row River Trail to Dorena Reservoir, then heads to the forested foothills. Changing leaves create a corridor of fall colors, perfect for a ride on the Covered Bridges Scenic Bikeway. The 36-mile paved route takes you by six covered bridges. You can even ride through the Mosby Bridge and Chambers Bridge which is the only covered railroad bridge west of the Mississippi.
